

Larissa Andelman
President
Women Lawyers Association of NSW

Larissa is a barrister at 153 Phillip Chambers with significant experience in litigation and alternative dispute resolution practices. She specialises in all aspects of workplace law including industrial, employment, contract and discrimination areas. She also practices in administrative and commercial law.

She was admitted as a solicitor in New South Wales in 2004 and since that time has worked as in-house counsel at a trade union, in the litigation group of the Fair Work Ombudsman and has practiced at the Victorian Bar.

Since 2012 she has been a member of NSW Women Barrister's Forum and since 2014 has been Co-Chair of the Women Lawyer's Policy and Leadership Sub Committee. Throughout her career she has worked to further the interests of women, particularly women from disadvantaged backgrounds. Her focus in 2019 is on advocating for cultural change in the legal profession and providing support and development opportunities for women through seminars, functions and mentoring.