

Jackie Taylor
Director, Senior Facilitator and Coach
Priority Management, Asia

Jackie's passion is in motivating people to achieve higher personal and organisational productivity and effectiveness through sustained behavioural change. Helping people to develop their potential has always been a driving force for her and she believes people need the skills and ability to deal with the challenges of a changing business environment more now than ever before.

A broad commercial background enables Jackie to demonstrate an understanding of the issues facing executives in the workplace today. This, combined with strong communication and interpersonal skills, supports her work with individuals and groups in a wide variety of organisational situations.

Jackie is a British citizen and a Singapore permanent resident. Prior to facilitating and coaching she forged a successful career in sales, marketing and communications working for Pitney Bowes, Standard & Poor's and financial software company Fidessa. Jackie moved to Asia in 2001 and is a founding director of Priority Management Associates (Singapore). She has conducted training for many multi-national corporations including: ABN AMRO, Barclays, Baxter Healthcare, BHP, Credit Suisse, Deloitte, DBS Bank, Goldman Sachs, HSBC, INSEAD, Marsh, Microsoft, Nestlé, Oracle, Pfizer, Prudential, PWC, Standard Chartered, Transocean and UOB. Since 2009 Jackie has also conducted thousands of individual productivity consultations with corporate and government employees of all seniorities.

Jackie holds a BA Hons in European Business with German from Nottingham Trent University UK and Paderborn University, Germany and also holds a postgraduate diploma specialising in marketing from the Chartered Institute of Marketing UK.
