

David Edney
President
NSW Young Lawyers

David is the President of NSW Young Lawyers and a junior barrister at 6 St James Hall Chambers, practising principally in the areas of commercial litigation and insolvency law.

David began his career in 2007 in a suburban firm's commercial litigation and debt collection practice, before moving into boutique insolvency practices in the city, and ultimately making his move to the bar in 2018. Along the way, he also took a year off to complete a Masters of Law at University College, London.

Throughout his time in the law, David has been an active member of NSW Young Lawyers, particularly in its Civil Litigation Committee, but also serving as a mentor in the NSW Young Lawyers Mentoring Program. Grateful for all the support he received over the years that got him to where he is today, David is keen to give back by sharing the knowledge and experience he has accumulated over the course of his career so far.
