

Cathie Armour
Commissioner
Australian Securities and Investments Commission (ASIC)

Cathie Armour is one of the Commissioners of the Australian Securities and Investments Commission ("ASIC").

The Commission is responsible for ASIC's performance as Australia's integrated corporate, financial markets, financial services and consumer credit regulator.

In her role Cathie works closely with the ASIC teams responsible for regulating markets, corporations, financial reporting and insolvency and the enforcement of laws relating to market integrity and corporate governance.

Cathie's experience before ASIC was in legal counsel leadership roles in international financial institutions. She began her career in private legal practice and has worked for law firms in Sydney and New York. She has been a solicitor in NSW and a member of the Law Society since 1984.