

Nick Gaudion

Director, Forensic Accounting Division, Cutcher

Nick leads a team of forensic accountants and is committed to helping the legal profession make sense of the dollars in dispute resolution. Nick regularly presents on financial issues relevant to lawyers.

Nick commenced his career at Deloitte as an auditor. Since specialising in forensic accounting Nick has developed a reputation delivering independent opinions to complex issues in an easy to understand manner, whether that be in a written report or in the witness box. In April 2013 Nick was appointed to the Administrative Appeals Tribunal as a part-time member with accounting experience.

Nick has a unique ability to identify the significant aspects of the matter in dispute and what is required to be able to form a concluded opinion on those issues. Sometime that involves considering the issues in the context of the bigger picture and sometimes it means getting stuck into the detail to find the needle in the haystack that will support his opinion and assist with resolving the dispute.