

Steven Berveling

Barrister, Martin Place Chambers

Steven Berveling has practised law since 1982, initially for the Australian Government and subsequently in private practice, firstly in Adelaide and since 1989 in Sydney.

In February 2003 Steven commenced to practise as a barrister, from Martin Place Chambers, Sydney, specialising in planning & development, local government and environmental matters. He has extensive experience in environmental law and acts for industry, developers, and local councils.

Steven holds degrees in both Science and Law and holds a Doctorate of Juridical Studies. His thesis relates to the law concerning contaminated sites.

Outside of work he is often on his bicycle, targeting ultra endurance events and time trials. He has competed numerous times in the Race Across America and currently holds the (age) Australian Record for the Hour Record.
