

Jordan Furlong

*Internationally renowned legal sector analyst, author, speaker and consultant
Principal, Law21*

THE FUTURE OF LAW

9:00am-9:45am

How legal innovation changes everything about “accessible justice”

Definitions of “the rule of law” invariably include the obligation to make justice accessible and assign responsibility for this task to the legal profession. For most of our profession’s history, we have failed to meet this commitment. However, over the last 20 years, an astonishing wave of innovation has swept across the global legal sector, bringing legal remedies closer to billions of people than ever before. Lawyers now have the power to ignite a worldwide accessibility revolution; we also have the power to crush that revolution before it begins. In this keynote presentation, legal sector analyst Jordan Furlong will describe the legal innovation explosion of the 21st century, frame the monumental moral choice now facing the profession, and chart a course towards universally accessible justice through a renewed discernment and redefinition of the true role of lawyers.

About Jordan Furlong

Jordan Furlong is an internationally renowned legal sector analyst, author, speaker, and consultant deeply invested in a better future for the legal profession and the society it serves.

Over the past 20 years, Jordan has forecast critical new developments and discerned emerging patterns in the legal ecosystem, and has addressed thousands of lawyers in dozens of audiences across four continents about the rapidly evolving legal services market.

Jordan is currently focused on serving clients in the areas of lawyer formation, education and licensing, and legal services regulation.

You can find Jordan online at law21.ca and on Twitter at @jordan_law21.