

Paul Coady

Barrister, Public Defenders Chambers

Paul Coady began his legal career as a commercial solicitor at Clayton Utz, but turned toward criminal law after an internship with the Innocence Project in New Orleans.

He has been at the NSW Bar for 11 years and was appointed a public defender in 2018.

He has appeared regularly with and against government lawyers such as those employed at NSW Police and the NSW Crown Solicitors.

THE LAW SOCIETY
OF NEW SOUTH WALES