

Risk management as a strategic business tool – why legal is so much more than a dustpan and brush

Wednesday 9 March 2022 – 4.00pm – 5.00pm

Rebekah Hunter

Chair, In-House Corporate Lawyers Committee

Rebekah Hunter is the Head of BFS Regulatory Change in Macquarie Group's Banking and Financial Services Regulatory Risk Team. A corporate in house financial services lawyer with private practice experience and over 18 years' experience in Australian banking and financial services, Rebekah's role involves horizon scanning and regulatory thematic awareness with board, senior management and internal compliance forum reporting. Her regulatory oversight governance function encompasses monitoring execution of regulatory change initiatives in accordance with frameworks, as well as coordination of engagement in industry and internal consultations on regulatory and proactive industry change initiatives. Currently she is the chair of the NSW Law Society's In-House Corporate Lawyers Committee, a Councillor of the NSW Law Society Council, a member of the NSW Law Society's Professional Conduct Committee and has been actively involved in a variety of pro bono legal work.

THE LAW SOCIETY
OF NEW SOUTH WALES