

Emma Wei

Federal Circuit and Family Court of Australia

Coming from an Asian family, it was ‘lawyer or doctor’ from the outset. Emma always had a huge fear of blood so she carefully opted for lawyer. Little did she know that the law profession involved a lot more bloodshed and delivery of “bad news”. Having worked as a paralegal for over 3 years, Emma wanted to get away from all the admin and working-for-someone-else so she became a Judge’s Deputy Associate. Emma spends her free time drawing and yet over the years, she still fails to draw the line at pandering to her bosses’ every request. In the future Emma hopes to be a part of a large pro-environmental firm but for now, she will be printing her speech single-sided, double-spaced and in size 24 font.