

Shannon Rogers

Partner, Barkus Doolan Lawyers

Shannon has practiced in family law for more than 13 years with a focus on financial and parenting cases that involve complex facts and issues.

Shannon is an Accredited Family Law Specialist and is an experienced litigation lawyer with exceptional skills – representing clients at both trial and Appellate level.

Shannon developed a passion for this area of law because of his innate understanding of relationships and his ongoing awareness of the difficult emotions that often confront both sides of a dispute.

Shannon helps our clients with a strategic and common sense approach that keeps clients at ease and resolves matters as efficiently as possible.

Shannon is particularly skilled in dealing with matters that are high in conflict and involve allegations of Family Violence and complex parenting disputes. Shannon also has experience in matters involving Apprehended Domestic Violence Orders in the Local Court of NSW.

Shannon was recognised as a “Rising Star” in 2017 by “Doyle’s Guide to the Australian Legal Market”
